The Homestead Museum provides a unique way to look at southern California's history from the 1840s, when this land was still part of Mexico, through the 1920s, when Los Angeles came to be known world-wide as a major metropolitan city. This six-acre site features the Workman House, a Victorian-era country home constructed around an 1840s adobe; La Casa Nueva, a 1920s Spanish Colonial Revival mansion noted for its architectural crafts; and El Campo Santo, one of the oldest private cemeteries in southern California. Through all of its programs, the Museum strives to better understand the past and people's ability to shape history.

In addition to a variety of special events and programs offered throughout the year, free guided tours are available Wednesday through Sunday at 1:00, 2:00, 3:00, and 4:00 p.m. Tours for groups of ten or more are available daily with at least two weeks advance notice. Tours in Spanish are offered the second Sunday of every month at 1:30, 2:30, and 3:30 p.m., or may be reserved at other times. Tours in American Sign Language are available by reservation. Most of the site is wheelchair accessible. The Museum is pleased to accommodate visitors with special needs with 72 hours advance notice. For more information, please call (626) 968-8492 or visit homesteadmuseum.org.
